A difference real estate professionals appreciate.

In practically every profession, experience matters. Those who have the most experience have simply seen more, done more and know more than those with less tenure. It's true with land surveyors too.

With a professional, highly-experienced survey department, Weihe Engineers gives you the service, momentum and confidence you want during your due diligence period. After all, revisions or delays can be costly and there are reputations at stake. Put our experience to work for you:

Weihe Engineers helps get you to closing without stress, extra effort or delay.

About ALTA Surveys.

Formally known as an ALTA/ACSM Land Title Survey, the American Land Title Association (ALTA) and the American Congress on Surveying & Mapping (ACSM) developed standardized requirements to assure industry-wide survey consistency.

Weihe Engineers' ALTA Survey Advantages:

Less hassle and review time.

1 Our professionally licensed surveyors and project managers have relationships with title companies, real estate attorneys and lenders. So, we know the information required by real estate professionals to help eliminate the hassle of unnecessary revisions and help reduce review time to keep your closing right on schedule.

Clear, complete and communicative drawings and reports.

2 We believe a picture is worth a thousand words; therefore, we'll provide you with detailed drawings that easily identify the standard and non-standard items you may like to have included.

Accurate locations and interpretations.

3 Our survey professionals are highly skilled in locating all physical, on-site evidence and interpreting deeds. When a difference is noted, we'll provide the necessary support for further review and resolution.

At your service since 1960.

For nearly 50 years, Weihe Engineers and our crews have completed over 30,000 surveys around Central Indiana and beyond. Over the years, we've built a reputation for providing timely, accurate and complete surveys.

By using the latest technology, we're successfully satisfying the demands of real estate brokers, their clients and other real estate professionals.
